Featured Speaker

Libby Langdon

Broaden your brand:
Tactics to market and build your design business

Presentation is worth 1 Continuing Education Unit

Better than thinking outside the box, Libby shows you that there is no box! She presents proven ways to set and achieve goals and how to take calculated and informed risks that pay off in the end. She will discuss the importance of defining your brand message and developing your voice, as well as the importance of networking and self-promotion. Are you better off finding a design niche, or casting a wide net in the industry? Is the mission of your business clear and are you conveying this to potential clients? Libby answers these questions and more in this fast paced and informative seminar. Libby will also share the inside scoop on how she made things happen for herself and how you can to.
